

DESCRIPTION

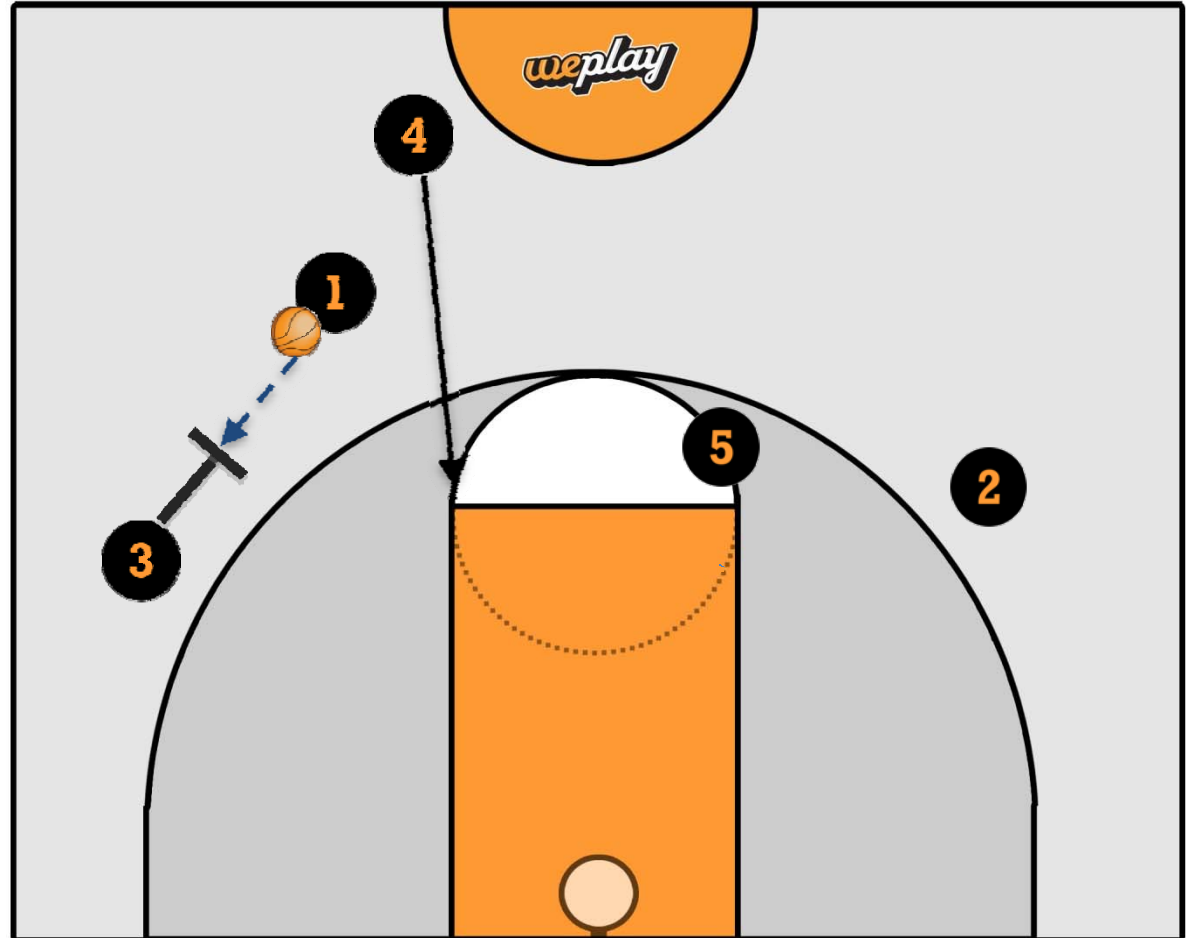

This second 3-pointer play is most effective in a secondary fastbreak when the defense isn't completely set, which would ultimately free up the (2) for a corner 3-point shot.

1. The play starts by the (1) passing the ball to the (3) who is waiting to set a screen; the (4) trails the play and goes to the right wing.
2. When the screen is set, the (3) passes the ball back to the (1) so he/she penetrates diagonally towards the hoop, while the (3) fades out.
3. The (5) sets a screen on the left wing so the (2) could freely go to the corner for the spot up 3-point shot.
4. The (1) promptly skip passes to the (2) for the open 3-pointer.
